

LIFE IN THE FAST LANE

Ready to experience the most thrilling 75 seconds of your life? The Olympia Bob Run from St Moritz to Celerina beckons. In a tradition that dates back to the '30s, you'll take your place in a four-person sled, safely squeezed between a pilot and brakeman, and reach speeds of up to 135km/h as you hurtle down the 1,722m-long run – not only the world's first bobsleigh track, but the only natural ice track of its kind. Leaning against the centrifugal force into the curves, you'll crest the walls and thunder down the straights towards the finish, where a glass of bubbles awaits. Worried they won't believe you back home? You'll get your own "Bobbaptism" certificate to prove it.
